Fancy Dishes and Rich Food Have
No Terrors if You Use Stuart's
Dyspepsia Tablets.

Prove It With a Free Trial Package

Half or more of the good things to eat are either under suspicion or banished altogether to those who haven't learned of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Instead of berating breakfast sausage, sardine sandwiches and roast duck with dressing, wise people eat a Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet after each meal and one just before you go to bed, then there is no harm in the rich, fancy dishes.

Your stomach lacks the proper digestive juices to make your meals easily digested. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets give the stomach and other organs of the digestive apparatus the wherewithal to digest food.

WANTS TO HAVE A MODEL FARM FOR ORPHANS

M. E. HARRIS, HEAD OF CORNISH ORPHANS' HOME, HAS A PET SCHEME THAT HE HOPES TO SEE MATERIALIZE THIS YEAR.

M. E. Harris, superintendent of the Cornish orphans' home, was in the city yesterday soliciting funds for that institution. Mr. Harris reported that he was meeting with good success here, in fact, he says the people of this city have always been extremely liberal with him and have never failed to respond to his call for help.

At the present time there are 22 inmates of the home, but Mr. Harris says this number will be considerably increased with the advent of winter.

He has planned to buy a farm in addition to the present property and convert it into an up to date truck and dairy farm, something that will be self-supporting. If he succeeds, the institution will have 300 acres and will be a model farm for any one's inspection. The purchase price of this property will approximate $5,000, and of that amount he has already secured nearly half. He has the assurance of several local oil operators that they will assist him in this matter, and he hopes to have the work well begun another year. Mr. Harris plans to have nothing but blooded cattle and hogs on the place, raise large flocks of chickens and put their products on the tables of this city every day. His plan is a good one and if carried to a successful termination will be a valuable asset to the state.

Mr. Harris is living at Chickasha at present, but spends most of his time on the road in the interest of the orphans' home. He has been at work on his pet scheme for many years, and has the satisfaction at present of knowing that it has been successful. With the assistance of the local oil men who are with him in the industrial farm movement, it is practically assured that he will see all his plans materialize before very long.

The Germans say that the attempt of the allies to cut off Turkey is a failure, but we notice they are planning an aerial post from Berlin to Constantinople.

THERE WILL BE GREAT ACTION NEXT SPRING

CITY ELECTION PROMISES TO BE TORRID AFFAIR WITH A HOST OF CANDIDATES OUT FOR THE MAYOR'S OFFICE.

The city political pot began boiling yesterday morning and from now until after the city primary next spring there is going to be more or less political talk indulged in by those who desire to remain on or to get on the city payroll.

The absorbing race, of course will be for the office of mayor, with that of chief of police as the second choice. That there will be a big bunch of candidates for both positions is an assured fact and the race will be a most exciting one until after the voters have made their choice.

For instance, there is Mr. Roberts, ex-mayor of this city. He is not letting any grass grow under his feet and can be seen any day now in confidential conversation with friends on the street and impressing the fact upon their minds that he wants to secure his old job back again in order to prove that it was all a mistake in supplanting him in the first place. Mr. Roberts has a large circle of friends who are encouraging him to get in the running and keep moving until after the election, assuring him of their unqualified support.

The present incumbent, Mr. Lasher, is some campaigner himself, and it is certain that he will have his "lid" in the ring when the proper time comes. He was appointed commissioner from the third ward upon the resignation of J. M. Howard and since the resignation of Mayor Mullen was selected to fill the unexpired term as mayor. He, too, has a following that hopes to see him land the job, and will work to that end in the coming primary election.

Speaking of J. M. Howard, former commissioner of finance, who had a little disagreement with the administration and handed in his resignation several months ago. At the time it was avowed that he would get in the race for mayor and take a fall out of some of those with whom he disagreed while serving the city. Since that time the determination has become fixed with him and his friends and it is assured that he will be a candidate for chief executive of the city when the time arrives for the election.

There is another city official who will be there, or thereabouts, when the ballots are being cast, and that is Commissioner London from the fourth ward. It has been several years since a mayor has been selected from that particular part of the municipality, and some of Mr. London's admirers, and they are numerous, have taken the hunch that he can bring home the bacon if he asks the voters for their suffrage at the primaries, and it is practically certain that he will ask them and thereby having it said once more that the old fourth, where a whole lot of the voting and more or less of the scuffling is done in the interest of the party can have the honor of furnishing the mayor once more.

There are others who are in the hands of their friends and no doubt could be induced to run. For instance, there is John Carlock, former city engineer and a staunch democrat. It has been whispered that he would be in the race. This, he says, will not happen, giving as his reason that he has to make a living for his family. But then, you never can tell what sacrifices some men can be induced to make in the interest of party harmony. Therefore if you see his hat in the ring, do not be at all surprised.

Others may bob up serenely before the day for casting the votes arrives, but this is about the present line-up so far as the mayor's race is concerned.

That the chief of police race will bring out a large field is practically a certainty. The present incumbent will not be a candidate for re-election, as he is going to make the race for sheriff on the independent ticket. This, of course, prevents him from entering the race for chief. Of the present force, however, so far as is learned, practically every one now swinging the club will ask the dear pee-pul for their suffrage on election day. The above statement is hardly fair, however, as there are a few who are not asking the people to make them chief, but here are a few of them who are: Will Fraisher, assistant chief; Dan Blackburn, and C. G. Simms, patrolmen. These three are certain to make the race, and there may be others from the department to get busy.

On the outside, there is Dow Braziel, who is an avowed candidate and

Madden's

D. E. Booker, ex-chief, who will both be in the running. It is easy to see that there will be something doing in this scramble, and it's a hard guess to pick the winner at this early date.

For commissioners from the various wards, it is hard to predict who will land the plums. It is reported upon pretty good authority that none of the present board want the job again, but there will be material enough offered for the voters to make a pretty good selection at the polls.

All other offices at the city hall are appointive, and who fills them will depend entirely upon the whim of the head of municipal affairs, aided and abetted by the Board of Commissioners, which must confirm all appointments.

Yes, there will be plenty of action in the next city campaign, with plenty of old-timers in the game to see that the votes will be forthcoming on election day. They cannot all win, that is true, but it is a pretty hard proposition right now to convince any one of them that there is a chance for them to lose. Time alone will do this.

Juvenile Logic.

It was at a private entertainment and a lady had just risen from the piano.

"Would you like to be able to sing and play as I do, dear?" she queried of a little five year old miss.

"No, ma'am," was the unexpected reply.

"And why not?" asked the lady. "Cause," explained the small observer, "I wouldn't like to have people say such horrid things about me." —Indianapolis Star.
